

NMHM Lecture Series

Historical Diseases From a Modern Perspective: The American (Military) Experience

A Book Talk by Dr. James A. Shaw

Sunday, Jan. 12, 2 p.m. – In person and live on Facebook @MedicalMuseum

Join NMHM for a Book Talk with Dr. James Shaw as he presents on the history of specific diseases affecting troop strength and military preparedness from the Revolutionary War to World War II. As Shaw briefly describes each of the main diseases affecting our service members throughout history, he will also explain the relationship between a disease and the factors that cause it and discuss re-emerging diseases in a present-day context.

NATIONAL MUSEUM OF HEALTH AND MEDICINE

2500 Linden Lane
Silver Spring, MD 20910
(301) 319-3300
www.MedicalMuseum.health.mil
@MedicalMuseum

Above left to right: Reeve 079101-016, Reeve 82480-13, and Reeve 78948-036.